

Choose a PCP and you'll have a doctor in your corner.

A primary care provider (PCP)* is the doctor who knows you best—they're the first person you call with medical questions and issues. PCPs help guide you to the care you need—and may help avoid cost surprises, save time and make the best use of your health care.

Select a PCP to help manage your health.

With your new health plan taking effect, it's a good idea to choose a PCP who's in your network—even if your plan doesn't require one. The doctors and facilities in the network have agreed to provide services at a discount, so staying in network makes sense—especially when visiting an out-of-network provider could end up costing you a lot more for care.

A PCP can help you by:

- Getting to know your health history and health goals.
- Providing routine care, such as annual checkups, which may catch potential health issues earlier.
- Advising you when to see a specialist and providing referrals if needed.

Here's how to find a network PCP.

Sign in to myuhc.com[®], then select Find Care & Costs > Medical Directory > People > Primary Care > All Primary Care Physicians. Only doctors in your network are visible when you're signed in and you can choose any family practitioner, internist, pediatrician or general medicine physician.

Let the hearts be your guide. ❤️❤️

The UnitedHealth Premium[®] program can help you find doctors who meet benchmarks—based on national standards—for quality and cost efficiency. You can locate Premium Care Physicians by looking for the blue hearts near doctors' names.

Questions to ask yourself when looking for a PCP:

- Is the doctor I'm considering in my network?
- Do my friends or family have recommendations?
- Are the office hours and location convenient?
- Does the doctor have a UnitedHealth Premium designation for quality, cost-efficient care?
- Does the doctor meet my specific needs?
For example: treat people with my condition, speak my language, etc.

Keep up on preventive care.

It's a good idea to see your PCP for an annual checkup and other preventive care, such as recommended screenings and immunizations. Preventive care is covered by most UnitedHealthcare plans at no additional cost when you see network providers.
